AN EXCEPTIONAL PLACE IN MONS

THE MUNDANEUM

A RECOGNIZED HERITAGE

IN THE INTERNATIONAL PRESS

A PLACE OF HERITAGE LOOKING TO THE FUTURE

The origins of the Mundaneum date back to the late XIXth century. The project that aimed to gather together the whole of the world's knowledge in one place was the brainchild of one of the fathers of bibliography, Paul Otlet (1868-1944) and the Nobel Peace Prize winner Henri La Fontaine (1854-1943).

The Mundaenum became an universal documentation centre, and during the first half of the XXth century, it was the birthplace of international humanist institutions dedicated to knowledge and universal solidarity.

Today, the Mundaneum is a private archives center which has for mission to conserve, preserve and showcase within its space of temporary exhibitions, archives and collections bequeathed by its founders : nearly 6 km current documents and 12 million index cards of Universal Bibliography Repertory !

Called « the Google of Paper » by Le Monde, the Mundaneum is defined as a meeting point between history and futurology. Unesco Heritage, Mundaneum is both a place of memory enhancing the innovative spirit of its founders, and cultural place where one questions the society of tomorrow.

AN EXCEPTIONAL PLACE

Located in the heart of Mons, European Capital of Culture in 2015, this pearl of Art Deco architecture is the place that will give prestige and allure to your receptions, incentives, cocktails, walking dinners or other custom formulas.

Completely renovated in 2015, the Mundaneum consists of a ground floor topped by two floors scalable on demand, a glass conference room overlooking a new courtyard at the back of the museum and a terrace from which enjoy the view of the « Cultural Kilometer ». The Mundaneum regularly offers exhibitions, lectures and activities for young audiences.

The place has an infrastructure thought for people with reduced mobility (lift and toilets), its exhibitions are available in FR-EN-NL.
